CRESCENT HEIGHTS HONORED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF HOMEBUILDERS 2006 "PILLARS OF THE INDUSTRY" AWARDS

Crescent Heights, the nation's leading condominium developer was named the Freddie Mac Development Firm of Year by the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) at its annual education conference in Scottsdale, Arizona.

The award ceremony on April 4th recognized NAHB's selections of the "best of the best" in the multifamily housing industry with its Pillars of the Industry Awards.

This marks the first time that this honor, considered the most prestigious national award in the industry, has been given to a condominium developer. The Pillars of the Industry Awards are looked to by the industry and the media as a showcase of future trends and innovation in multifamily housing.

Accepting the award, Bruce A. Menin, Crescent Heights Managing Partner, stated, "It has been a huge honor for Crescent Heights to participate in urban condominium developments in the major cities across our nation. We are blessed to have had the opportunity to build beautiful buildings that impact skylines, to breathe new life into defunct historic buildings which could never be rebuilt today, and to activate neighborhoods with hidden character and charm."

"Many thanks to the NAHB and the judges", Menin continued. "Our appreciation to our loyal employees without which we could not have accomplished what we have achieved, to our lenders who believed in us when we pioneered markets no one else believed in and to our all important customers and vendors."

He concluded "This is the first major award of this kind in the multi-family industry to be awarded to a condominium developer. On behalf of my partners Sonny Kahn and Russell Galbut and the entire Crescent Heights family, we are humbled and honored."
